About BDA

1. Introduction

Beijing Dance Academy was established in 1954, formerly known as “Beijing Dance School” which was for secondary dance professional education. It was promoted to an institution for college education through the transformation in 1978; then obtained the degree granting rights for dance master in 1999 and for master of fine arts (MFA) in 2005, followed by a joint program for Ph.D. students initiated in 2010 in cooperation with Peking University. Being an exclusive specialized dance institution of higher education in China, as well as a famous dance academy with the largest scale and overall specialty setting worldwide, the academy offers programs at secondary, undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Known as “the cradle of dancers”, neighboring the picturesque Zizhu Park, the academy ushers in and sees off numerous students to chase and realize their dancing dreams, which is indeed “students with talents blossoming and harvesting”. At present, the academy has nearly 600 permanent faculty members, about 2,500 full-time students, total 5,303 students of the School of Continuing Education including 698 degree students and 4,605 non-degree students, more than 30,000 teachers of the School of Dance Grade Examination and Education doing dance grade training at home and abroad every year, and nearly 300,000 students attending dance grading tests.

Beijing Dance Academy comprises educational institutions including the Department of Chinese Classical Dance, the Department of Chinese Ethnic and Folk Dance, the Ballet Department, the Department of Social Dance, the Department of Musical Theatre, the School of Creative (consisting of the Choreography Department, the Department of Art Design and the Education and Research Center for Modern Dance), the Department of Liberal Arts (consisting of the Department of Dance Studies, the Department of Art Communication, the Department of Fundamentals Course and the Teaching and Research Department for Ideological and Political Theory), the School of Education, the Graduate Faculty, the BDA Youth Dance Company, the School of Continuing Education, the School of Dance Grading Examination and Education, and the Affiliated Secondary School of Beijing Dance Academy. A unique system of dance education with Chinese characteristics has been established concerning academic subjects such as dance performance, dance education, choreography, dance history and theory, art design, art management, new media, and somatic science of dance.

For 60 years since it was founded, the academy has earnestly implemented the party's guidelines for education and arts, and operated the working thought of "holding the banner, leading the culture, administration by law and harmonious development". Based on Chinese traditional culture, it has assimilated worldwide splendid culture. Led by the school motto as "Morality and Harmony, Nature and Human, Culture and Dance, Virtue and Art", the academy endeavors to promote and develop its tradition of "patriotism and love for school and dance". It has striven to achieve the goal of "insisting high level cultural pursue, high quality talents cultivation and high-level popularization of education", and made continuous efforts to the renaissance of Chinese culture, development of dance business, and build up world-class dance higher education, continuing the splendid history.
